Introduction

A Few Words for My Readers

Offering a handful of love, I welcome all of you to my poor world of writing. With high hopes and deep confidence, I held my pen and dipped it in the tears of joy to write this book. I don't know what little I could convey you with my writing. So, I like approaching you with a curious mind to open my heart and eager to tell you the mystery concerning life. We all are at a deep stake because life is locked. Our birth is a great mistake, for it is obscure to us. So, life is too mysterious to unveil its reality. As a result, men are, of course, in a grave fix to understand and realize to enjoy the pleasure of life. We are struggling, so we are all running. We are striving for questing after some new thing for we know. We are thinking of what our mind is silently seeking. We are groping because we are ignoring. What we know is incomplete, and what we yearn to grasp is not coherent compared with our actual asking of mind. We are still puzzling to settle any thought properly because we are beyond the mystery of life. But there is only one key to unlock the shut door of life called love. Because life is a spell-bound game in the world on the one hand, love is much more wonderful and mysterious than life on the other hand, so love is apposite for digging up its mystery. Have you thought about how these words are so sweet? These three words have paved the way for true destination of life, which embrace us heartily.

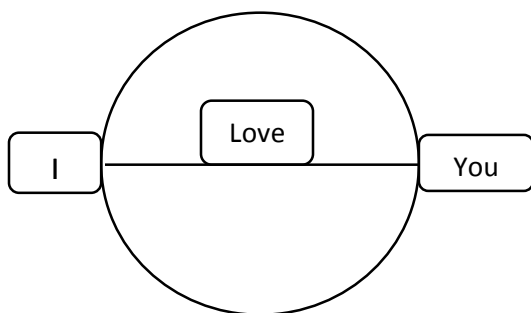

These three words make the most meaningful, profoundest and strongest bondage in life in the universe. It is the most touching sentence, which has given the most significance to the existence of all creative aspects relating to life. It has occupied the most dominant refuge in the hearts of the man irrespective of caste and creed. Its sublimity and subtlety are too permeating to signify life in a full-fledged.

I don't know how you have thought of it and how you have wished to have it in your life. Its magic touch is much more recondite than Aladdin Wonderful Lamp. It is the most underlying and incurrent power has kept the world, life and philosophy speeding up. Life seems to be a nasty and absurd game without love because love provides the necessary force to continue this life game in full swing. If not, this life would face setback awkwardly what would occur to it in its prolonged course. So, life looks lively and romantic as the green looks beautiful under the influx of the soil. Though 'love' seems nonexistent without life in an apparent sense, love is the prime curiosity in life to enhance its true beauty. It is a fact that the force of 'related relation' is a dominant cause of life. Directly or indirectly, this 'related relation' resulted from 'love'. This related force is acquainted with different names according to the varied places in disguise of 'love' concerning the unending relationship that chained all peoples together.

My readers, come close to my pen to listen to what my solicitous heart is anxious to tell how this 'love' has loved us and why we so much love her for the sake of life. What we see about us is nothing but the 'abiding relation' by which this vast creation exists. In respect of this, let us try to have a conception through the 'creative circle of relationship' stated below.

Creative Circle of Relationship

The above figure will solve your mystifying conception regarding the subtle meaning of ‘I’, ‘you’ and ‘love’. If you think it will be very convenient for you to decipher what the graph speaks of the universe, which seems to be a ‘circle’ with ‘I’ and ‘you’ as two points on it. And ‘love’ is its central point. Without the complete idea of ‘you’ and ‘I’ the purport of this ‘creative circle’ of relationship remains arcane. Whenever you think of the universe, this ‘creative circle will occur to you because no creation in this world is viable without related force in the question of inner and external meaning, where ‘love’ acts as a source of related force to keep the creative circle in motion. And this ‘love’ has sustained the equal balance of the circle as an invisible central point of ‘I’ and ‘you’. It is distinct that we could not draw any circle without center. And ‘I’ and ‘You’ seem two specific points in this circle in measuring the radius and diameter.

Based on it, we see that ‘you’ is always in motion respecting ‘I’ centered ‘love’. Here ‘you’ does not only indicate a single one (i.e. relationship) concerning ‘I’. Love provides the necessary related force to make the required relations by 'I' with regard to 'you'. As we cannot guess a complete circle without a fixed center, without 'love' cannot imagine a creative circle. If not, the creation stops unexpectedly. In this creative circle, 'love' acts an absolute invisible force to enforce the relative attraction between 'you' and 'I'. In this respect, every relationship is meaningful for 'I' and 'you'. Besides, all assorted relations also resulted in.

Here 'you' refers to thousands of relations separately and significantly for 'I' through 'love'. Whenever you think from your own side, 'you' will turn into 'I', and one who will come in contact with you under the effort of the underlying love like force will be you.

Thus, you will be close one to 'I'. This creative circle will go onward.

To keep this creation intact and productive, the creative circle of I and you must be existent. It is sure this vast universe consists of I's, and co-existence of 'you' and 'I' begets unending relation in this world where 'love' acts as a 'life-like-force'.

I don't know whether I can state what I have intended to tell you so long as. So, I'll request you to tell heartily 'I love you'. 'T' is here a distinct relation regarding which various 'you' irrespective of the animate and inanimate related to 'I' in several names.

So, I love you. Really, you are my that 'you' through whom I can visualize thousands of you associated with this vast creation. I am meaningful for you. If both you and I be meaningless, no relationship will exist. And if love is like a related force, it could not exist invisibly itself between you and me, so 'you' and 'I' turned into a deviated and nonexistent star from its proper orbit. You and I are mere living relative media of love without which nothing can attract with each other. By this force, two objects attract together in varied names regarded as 'attractive force', and this in human life is known as 'love' by subtle knowledge.

Now, I request you to ask yourself a few questions about love in your tiresome life. I hope these questions will rouse you from your trance. It is love which is your ardent longing throughout your life.

Do you really love?

Whom do you love?

Have you ever opened your mind to your close one?

Have you asked to yourself why you love?

How do you love?

Have you realized what is the difference regarding love?

Have you tried to speculate your love respecting your insight?

What do you feel in your love?

What have you desired from your love?

On what view have you placed your love?

Have you ever thought whether you are competent for your quested love or not?

From which outlook have you judged your love?

Have you endeavored to equalize the assorted balance concerning your love?

Are you atheist or theist for love?

Have you ever thought of love based on equal atheistic and theistic views?

How have you taken love as passion or creation?

Have you confronted love in question of inspiration?

Have you ever exposed yourself to love?

Is there any sacrifice accustomed to devotion and belief in your love?

What beauty acts as an arbiter in your love?

What little have you loved yourself to have your love in life?

Is sex love or pretext what you have thought?

Consciously you think a little more and if you stretch out your desire hand to have what you are yearning intently you will have all. There is only one royal road to follow the acme of life in the midst of revolution of love. No living being exists in void of love.

It is the best and the most wonderful measuring strategy to judge the melting point and density of humanity in case of life. Though there is a host of causes resulted from love in assorted names, such as religious love, philosophical love, Greek love, courtly love, romantic love, familial love, platonic love, erotic love, unrequited love and problematic love those which have come into effect by the different distinguished thinkers, however these are nothing but manifest of 'love' concerning its true subtle outlook. Especially in human life 'love' is chained amid multifarious relationships in the name of affinity, courtship, friendship, attachment, bonding, family and cohabitation so on. After all whatever relationship maybe, it is an 'underlying arresting force' as a 'purified power' serves in human life for which we all are sick and anxious to have at every turn of this life. Love does not confine only to the speculation of history, philosophy and religion. It also sprawls its unending immortal fingers in the field of scientific explanation concerning Evolutionary psychology, Evolutionary biology, Anthropology, Neuroscience and Biology.

Let Me Focus on the Basic Perspectives of Love

“You are my love, why?” answers to such questions provide multidimensional and complex feelings and thoughts to ponder. The answer to such questions is not related to any unique reason. It is a manifestation of a collection of feelings. I try to focus on this in various outlooks to bring a clear concept to my readers.

Love is a universal feeling. It can fill every empty vessel of the human heart with its sweet nectar. Love is a cause of creation. We are born in love, grow in love and die in love. Love is above all. Each person explains love in their way. We cannot describe love in a single word. It may be various types in place, time and situation. Love reinforces the values and ethics of life. Love may be romantic, familial, friendly or universal. According to situation and place, love bears distinct characteristics and qualities that enrich human life and unveil a new world of connection. Love lightens the nooks and corners of human life in different situations. Let's approach ahead of focusing on different love.

Romantic Love: Romantic love speaks of a distinct feeling expressed between two hearts of two persons. This love flourishes between a male and female based on the profundity of their relationship. Such love comes into being based on the thought of concrete and abstract. This romantic love rests on the physical and mental states. Under the impulse of the unseen urge of two minds, this love starts sprouting in two loving hearts. Only time tells how this love grows and ripens. Amid honour, intimacy, belief and understanding, love becomes lively. We should keep in mind that romantic love is intensely intimate and personal. This love never comes into being through physical attachment is a mental connection and an expression of royalty to each other. Such love makes life meaningful to lead a happy life and brings the profundity of relation in life. Life looks ecstatic and cheerful when love appears in life. It looks like a blooming flower with its multilayered visible and invisible touch. Under the impulse of love, life runs like a pregnant river. Romance is like waves, so romantic life is a wavy river that continues exploring and flourishing.

Family-Love: Before, I have told you that ‘Love’ is like the sun. According to different places, the light of the sun gives different meanings. Love has different meanings according to place. Love is one and unique. Love is an invisible power that binds with one another according to relationships. Here, love grows around the members of the family. Love exists in every heart of every member of the family. No man is free from love. Every man and woman reacts and shows his and her love according to the relationship. We have to remember that family love comes from blood relations. Since birth, this love exists in members of the family. Family love seems thicker than any other love. Family love is a source of all love. Besides, this love teaches us how to feel for each other to obey their responsibility, caring and service for different reasons. It strengthens the relationship among themselves.

Love of friendship: Love of friendship grows based on faith, honesty and compassion. The love of friendship is superior to all other loves on earth. Without family love, all sorts of love develop relying on ‘friendship’. Love means any relationship. Friendship is one of the best relationships. Love of friendship gives life to ‘any relationship’ related to our life. Love of friendship can haunt every ‘Relationship’ to make a life meaningful. Love of friendship is a centre and plays a role of pivot. Love of friendship is superior to the necessity in life to realize the difference in other relationships.

Humans Love: As the soil holds the whole of green, love upholds all humans invisibly. Love grows amid a sense of responsibility, compassion, empathy and understanding. Human lover never converges on any fixed relationship. It is whole and unique to enhance the human values of humanity and fraternity. This love brings people together. It also builds a profound sense of culture of cooperation, coexistence and support. Love begets beauty, emotion, romance, truth and moral value. Human love makes 'emotion' meaningful and productive. Human love irrigates the desert of the human mind to feel the vast bonding.

Love has some characteristics given below:

1. Self-sacrifice is one of the best characteristics of love. Love is an abstract word. It holds the world of abstract matters. Love never longs for the benefit of itself. It had better benefit others. Where there is sacrifice, there is love. Love is concomitant of sacrifice and belief.
2. Compassion: This visible, concrete world is a shadow of the invisible mind. Compassion is a so-called feeling. Love and feelings are substitutes for each other. Love tills the stark land of feelings. It also makes a man feel this universe. So, compassion serves a vital role in love.
3. Devotion: Loyalty is a keyword in love. Love means Satyam, Shivam and Sundaram. Faith and respect are the elements of love.
4. Sacrifice: Love and sacrifice seem twin. Love that is devoid of sacrifice is not love. Sacrifice serves as a significant quality in love.

The outcome of love is omnipresent in every aspect of human life. Love stimulates our minds and souls. It reinforces our relationships and happiness in our lives. Love heralds productive variations in our lives. It develops our self-confidence, encourages us, and elasticities meaning to our lives. Love brings people together and shapes a culture of support, empathy, and compassion.

Love is a multilayered feeling that touches every facet of human life. It is not mere feeling and emotion but an expression of divine linking. Love makes every moment of our lives valuable and redefines the profundity and meaning of our lives. Love builds relationships between people based on respect, empathy, and responsibility. It is a vital part of human life, which helps bring happiness, peace, and fulfilment. Love is the power that makes every moment of our life meaningful. Besides, love provides true joy in our lives.

The question “You are my love, why?” provides multidimensional and complex feelings and thoughts to ponder. The answer to such questions is not related to any unique reason. It is a manifestation of a collection of feelings. Here, I try to focus on this in various outlooks to bring a clear concept to my readers.

Complexity of feelings: Love dwells in heart. Heart is the abode of love. Heart or mind or soul is invisible. Love speaks of mind and soul. So, it is difficult to express in words. A mind understands a mind. When you love someone or when love starts growing in your mind for anyone, love changes your thinking, attitude and mindset towards him or her. What you are feeling and thinking of your loving one expresses through different sense organs. Love expects always the similar response from both. This attraction is relevant to some distinct characteristics which separate from others.

Relationship quality: Relationship quality serves a bundle of significant roles in love. Why do you feel a fathomless bond with those whom you love? Only love gives shape to any healthy relationship on earth becomes. Trust, respect and empathy reinforce the bondage of love in human life. When love starts growing in both hearts, its touching fragrance hovers. Love depends on respect. Love empowers all types of qualities of all relationships. Love makes a loving heart sacrifice. A man is ready to do anything for the person he loves. It seems he is the happiest to do for someone whom he loves for the sake of life. Love develops human values and all human qualities to feel the vast world of connection in this five-foot human body. Love is an endless benefit for both this life and after this life.

Personal Emotions and Feelings: It is a great cause why you love someone. It expresses personal emotions and feelings. Everyman is different from others in outlook of love. Love is based completely on abstract perspectives associated with the invisible shreds of human characteristics such as joy, pain, happiness and sadness. It also speaks of beauty, romance, passion and longing. This grows between two hearts. With whom, for whom, about whom you feel love is your personal and special in your life. It occurs in the context of life. Whatever we do seems beautiful and enjoyable under the impulse of love. No space is spacious without love. Love is ever occurring synthetic matter in universal scheme. Even love can say how smooth every day's life journey ahead.

Sacrifice and Service: There is no any word that is pregnant with theme of 'Sacrifice' without love. Humanity is a basic quality of love. Where no love is there is no humanity. Being a man, we are carrying goods like a van without uplifting our human values. Human values are associated with love. Love is a code to Sacrifice. What we are doing is related to love. Without love we can't do without any profit. What we are doing for our beloved ones is an activity of sacrifice. Service that needs sacrifice is love.

Future dreams and plans: Love is not only subject to the present. It embraces also future dreams and plans. When a man falls in love with anyone his or her dreams start planning how to build a happy life and live together. Life means dream. Without dream life is meaningless and motionless like a stagnant water. As long as love exists in your life, you will feel elated and inspired to adorn your every step of life. Love keeps begetting future plans amid new dreaming. And love only can bring about possibilities in life.

Support and encouragement: Encouragement and support play significant roles in the vast arena of love. When love comes in heart, he / she provides full support and encouragement to uphold the moral values and understanding in every turn of life. Only the word 'love' can arouse the confidence in other's heart to face strongly any setback in life. Love is an eternal catalyst in life reaction. Love is the mightiest of the universe to face any strongest on life journey.

It is not a mere feeling. It is a mélange of relationship profundity, sacrifice and personal emotion. Love is such a feeling that impacts every phase of life. It provides inspired energy and power with our mind like an invisible juice of the soil. Love strengthens our relationships and brings value and meaning to our lives. Love never physical attraction first. When love exists physical and emotional urges come into being without questions. Love always defines our life in difficult situations to make it meaningful to lead a happy life. Love never forsakes us.

You are my love, Why ?
